

POLICE & CRIME COMMISSIONER ELECTION

THURSDAY, 2 MAY 2024

Thursday, 2 May: Sussex Police & Crime Commissioner Elections

VOTE FOR PAUL RICHARDS

Your Labour & Co-operative Candidate

Labour's Paul Richards says: 'people say to me they want to send a clear signal to Rishi Sunak - enough is enough!'

'In this election, I am asking you to lend me your vote, as the Labour candidate, to send a message straight to No.10 Downing Street.'

'Together, we can reclaim our communities and beat the Tories here in Sussex.'

Paul's plan for better policing in Sussex

As your Labour police and crime commissioner, Paul Richards will deliver:

- more neighbourhood police teams on our streets and estates
- greater support for victims of crime and witnesses
- better support for youth activities such as boxing clubs and green schemes.

Labour's Paul Richards says: 'People are losing faith in the criminal justice system. Shoplifting is out of control. Neighbourhoods are blighted by noise, graffiti, vandalism, and drugs. People are fearful in public spaces. And where are the police? All too often the police are too stretched to respond quickly, or even turn up at all.'

'My policing plan will put more police on the streets and in our communities. Together, we can turn back the Tory crime wave.'

On Thursday 2 May, tell Rishi Sunak how you feel about crime in Sussex. It's time for change. Enough is enough. It's time for Labour.
